AMR Management Services Adds New Position

Lexington, KY – July 21, 2011 – AMR Management Services (AMR), a full-service association management company serving national, regional and local client partners, is pleased to announce the addition of a new staff position to support growth and expansion within the company's association management clients.

Emily Gallt joined the AMR team as a research assistant. Gallt previously worked as a staff member for a number of political campaigns in Kentucky, and is a graduate of Centre College with a bachelor's degree in government.

In her new role with AMR, Gallt will support government relations and policy analysis functions, coordinate research needs, and maintain online collaboration resources for AMR's client partner the National Association of State Chief Information Officers. Founded in 1969, NASCIO represents state chief information officers and information technology executives from the U.S. states, territories, and District of Columbia. During its partnership with AMR, NASCIO has risen to national prominence as the voice of state CIOs and achieved the highest conference attendance in its more than 40-year history.

"As our association partners continue to thrive and develop new strategic initiatives, AMR in turn enhances our service offerings and professional staff to meet their needs," said John Ruffin, CAE, president and chief executive officer of AMR Management Services. "We are proud to welcome Emily Gallt to the AMR team, and look forward to leveraging her skills for the benefit of our client partners."
