Innovative New AMC, Agentis Management, Inc., Chooses Lexington for National Headquarters

(Lexington, Ky.--) February marks the debut of Agentis Management, Inc., an outcome-focused association management company (AMC) headquartered in Lexington, Kentucky.

Co-founded by Stephanie Czuhajewski, CAE, President & CEO, and Brian Doty, CMP, Executive Vice President & COO, Agentis was established to provide unrivaled professional management services for non-profit membership societies and associations. Agentis delivers operational solutions that are innovative, actionable and transparent, using a continuous improvement approach that is changing the paradigm of association management.

“Our calling is to help non-profit organizations accomplish their missions, but it goes way beyond that,” said Czuhajewski. “We serve as a silent partner who embodies the spirit and ideals of the clients we serve. In this way, we are uniquely capable of acting as transparent agents on their behalf--agents who can be trusted to reflect each client’s specific personality and culture.”

Agentis provides a full suite of professional services including executive management, financial management, marketing & communications, convention management, educational programming development, government affairs, technology consulting and implementation, member services, creative services and credentialing program management.

The Agentis team is comprised of the following experts:

- Sarah Clements, Director of Associations
- Stephanie Czuhajewski, President & CEO
- Brian Doty, Executive Vice President & COO
- Stephanie Jamison, MPA , Public Affairs Consultant
- Tonda Preston, Membership & Registration Coordinator
- Sherl Thingstad, Project Coordinator
- Chris Walls, MLS, Director of Creative Services

“Agentis houses the most dedicated, passionate and experienced people that I have ever had the pleasure to work with,” said Doty. “Not only does our team conduct client business efficiently and diligently, but we do it passionately. We strive to exceed client expectations, without exceeding their budgets. I can honestly say that I have never before worked with a group of people with so much camaraderie and passion about the work that they’re doing and the clients that they’re serving.”

About Agentis

Agentis Management, Inc. was founded in February 2011 by a team of professionals who blend passion, experience and ingenuity to help associations achieve their goals. Agentis’ client portfolio includes regional, national and international associations and professional societies, primarily serving allied health professionals and scientists.

The name Agentis is a Latin derivative of the words agent and agency. It means, “one who acts,” or “to set in motion, drive, lead or conduct.” It also means, “an establishment where business is done for another.”

Agentis is committed to delivering profession-focused association management solutions that are innovative, actionable and transparent, using a continuous-improvement approach that is changing the paradigm of association management. Agentis...Your mission. Accomplished.

Coming on the Ides of March (March 15th)... the launch of www.agentismanagement.com.
